CORBIN ESTATE IN COURT.

MRS. BORROWE SUES FOR THE REMOVAL OF THE EXECUTORS AND MAKES CHARGES OF MISMAN-

AGEMENT. The trial of the action brought by Anna W. Corwe, one of the daughters of the late Austin Corbin, to compel her mother, Mrs. Hannah W. Corbin; her brother, Austin Corbin, and her brother-in-law, George S. Edgell, as executors of brother-in-law, George S. Edgell, as executors of the Corbin estate, to make an accounting, and also for their removal as executors and the appoint-ment of a receiver, was begun in the Supreme Court yesterday before Justice Daiy. Mrs. Borrowe, in her complaint, alleges that her brother-in-law is a large creditor of the estate; that her brother also owes the estate a large sum; that her mother is an old woman, and is ignorant of the management of husiness effairs, and that of the management of business affairs, and that her brother Austin is young, and has had no busi-ness experience. Both her mother and brother, she avers are under Mr. Edward and brother. he avers are under Mr. Edgell's influence, and his management of the estate is bad. The estate, Mrs. Borrowe says, is worth at least $5.431,829, and the liabilities have been placed at $2.651,000. Without authority, she says, valuable assets have been transred to her brother as an alleged legacy under father's will, and certain assets which were oductive have not been disposed of by the ors, while other valuable assets have been almost unproductive, and the present in-

The papers in the case were signed and approved by Elliu Root, James C. Carter and Austen J. Fox, who had been employed as special counsel in defending the case for the city.

They were then sent to Controller Fitch, who was a party to the case, the Controller having to approve of the payment and give over the money. Mr. Fitch did not give his final approval, and Controller Coler found the papers unsigned when he took office, and at once sent them back to the Corporation Counsel's office for a reconsideration.

MORE LIGHT FROM MR. GOULD.

THE RAPID TRANSIT COMMISSIONERS WILL ASK

It is probable that the only action the Rapid George J. Gould's letter will be to request him propositions contained in his communication. missioners have carefully studied all that Mr. Gould has written, but have failed to discover anything specific in his offers. He says that he is willing, in order to comply with the law, to pay the city one-half of 1 per cent of the gross re-ceipts for the franchises. The members of the ceipts for the franchises. The members of the Board are not certain whether he proposes to take all of the franchises at this knock-down figure or reserves the right to take the more valuable ones. Alexander E. Orr intimated that Mr. Gould would be asked to define more clearly his intentions. "In one place," Mr. Orr said, "Mr. Gould says he will take the franchises at this figure. In another place he speaks of the franchises being worth nothing. It is likely that the Board will ask Mr. Gould to make his propositions more specific."

REVISION OF BUILDING LAWS.

RESOLUTION FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COM-MISSION-BONDS TO SAVE THE EAST

A resolution was introduced in the Council yes-terday by Mr. Christman for the appointment of a commission of experts to revise the building laws of the city as provided for in the charter. Under the resolution the commission would be named by the President of the Council, and would consist of one lawyer and at least six men who are experts in tion was referred to the Law Committee.

The Council and Board of Aldermen passed a res The Council and Board of Aldermen passed a res-colution requesting the Board of Estimate to issue revenue bonds to the amount of £70.000 to prevent the work already done on the new East River bridge from deteriorating. Corporation Counsel Whalen has given an opinion to the effect that the issue would be legal if authorized by the Municipal Assembly, and as the money would come out of the tax levy next year it would not be included in the city debt, and would not affect the controversy over the debt limit.

TENANTS' WILD SCRAMBLE FROM FIRE.

A smouldering blaze, which did comparatively litsons into a paroxysm of fright and caused them to run to the street in their nightclothes, occurred at the apartment-house at No. 758 West End-ave. yesterday morning. The fire was discovered by a family on the third floor about 4 o'clock, and its members ran downstairs without dressing, shouting "Fire!" This alarmed the other occupants of the building, and a wild rush for the street folthe building, and a wild rush for the street followed. The clamor and excitement increased when the occupants of she house found the hallways full of smoke. Those on the top floors tried to gain access to the roof, but were unable to mount the iron ladders. When the firemen arrived they saw the sidewalks crowded with white-rooed figures, ahivering in the cold morning air. The tenants were all taken to adjoining houses. The fire was discovered between the third floor and the ceiling below. It is supposed that rats carried matches there, and they became ignited. The damage amounted to something like $1,000.

morning He called Policeman Johnson, and they entered the place. It consists of a single room on the ground floor used as the plumbing shop and a cellar used for storage. Next door is a big tenement-house. The shop was in a state of confusion, papers and pleces of wood which had formed desks being scattered about, and through an open trap door in the floor the policemen could see a fire burning in the cellar. They were astounded to see that directly over the fire, which had apparently just been lighted, was a wooden tank full of naphtha.

The men jumped through the trap door and scooped the pile of blazing chips from under the tank which contained a dozen gallons. An examination of the premises disclosed that the men had got into the cellar by the grating in front of the store. They had then opened the trap door and drilled a hole in the small safe, but had bungled the work so badly that it was useless.

The Fire Marshal was immediately informed of the case and his men and the police are hard at work now, but they have little hope of catching the AMVER DIED FROM A BULLET WOUND.

LAWYER DIED FROM A BULLET WOUND.

SAID TO HAVE COMMITTED SUICIDE-HIS FRIENDS ANNOUNCED THAT HE DIED FROM "HEART FAILURE."

It became known yesterday that Alfred B. Hall, the young lawyer of Beach Terrace, near One-hundred-and-forty-third-st., who was buried on Sunday, died from a bullet wound, self-inflicted on The family had declared that the son had died of heart failure. The Coroner's office of The Bronx was informed of the case, but the facts were that Hall had shot himself in his room, but that the shooting was probably accidental. Rumor has it, however, that Hall had been despondent over the death of a woman to whom he was said to have been engaged. His relatives still declare positively that he died from "heart failure."

Although Inspector Murray had made provision for the issuing of permits for an enlarged territory, he finds that his allowance was eniarged territory, he mass that his allowance was not liberal enough. Dealers in pyrotechnics have tremendous orders for supplies of fireworks, ex-ceeding anything in the history of the city, not ex-cepting the Centennial year, when there was a lav-ish display of fireworks. Inspector Murray says that the war has increased the desire for fireworks, and this year will see a display of pyrotechnics such as the city has never witnessed before.
